Connecting Students to COVID-19 Testing Resources

Higher Education

The Situation
A university student began experiencing symptoms of COVID-19 and wanted to seek medical attention. The student called two student health centers for testing but was unable to reach a physician or schedule an appointment. Although the student was self-quarantining, they were unsure of university policy regarding COVID-19 and needed information and assistance.

The Solution
The student notified the LiveSafe Dashboard about their COVID-19 symptoms and asked if there were policies in place for student testing.

The Result
The student was able to learn where and how to get tested for the virus. This helped maintain the safety of the student as well as the broader university community.
